

APOLLONIA

Dining room

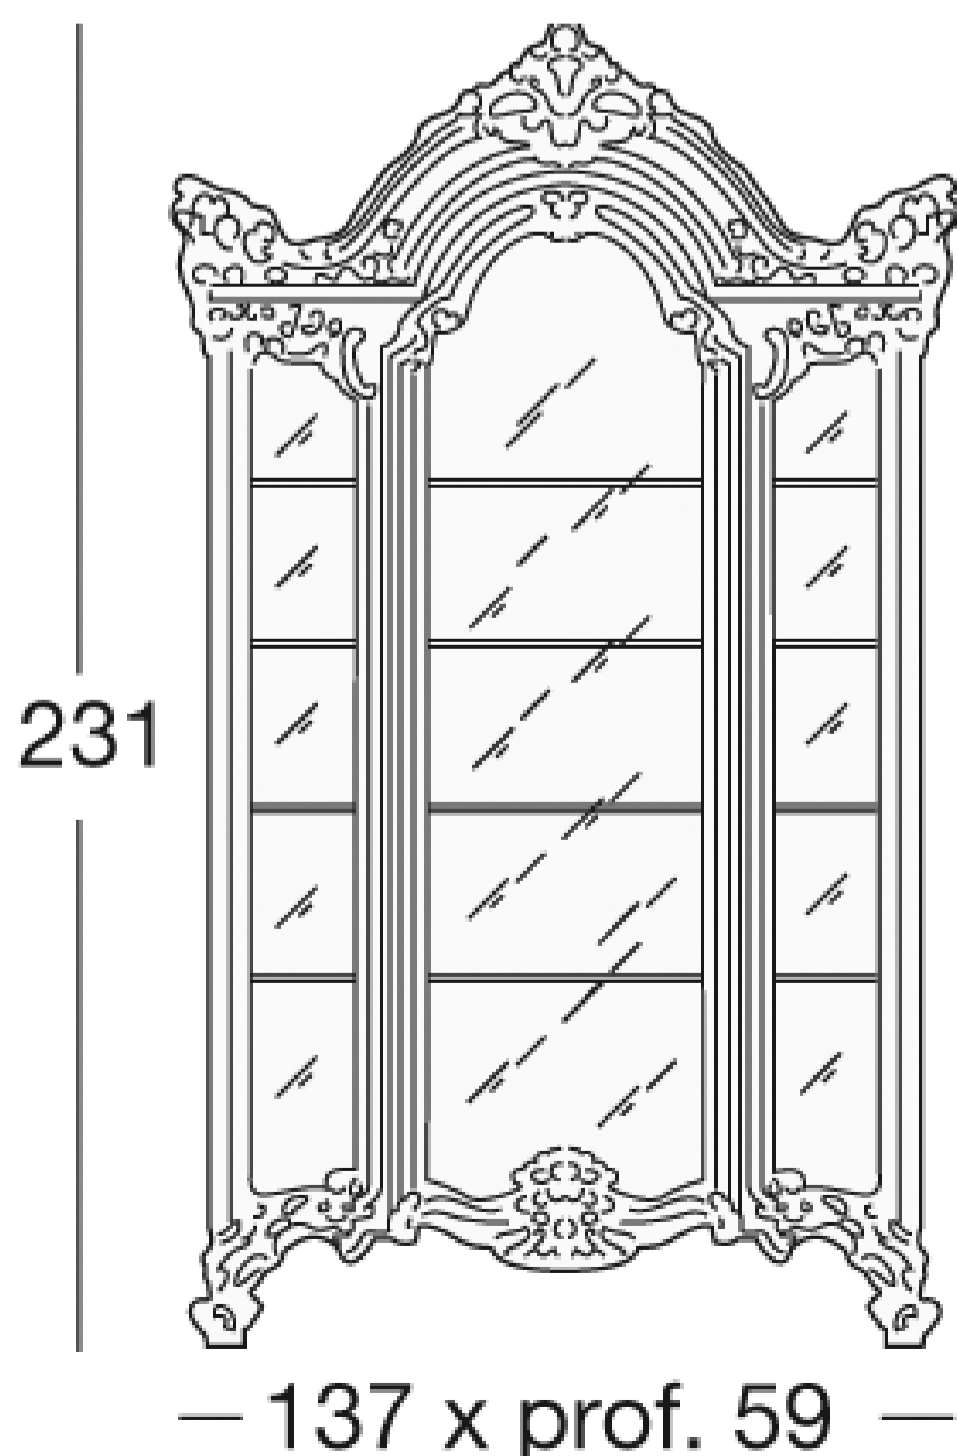

The Apollonia Dining Room set consists of a large and decorated glass cabinet, a spacious and imposing sideboard, three tables with a majestic and stylish supporting leg, a chair, and an armchair. Austere compared to other collections Apollonia arrogates the charm of minimal detail in the right place. A dining room without too many frills but still charming and luxurious.

Glass cabinet and cupboard

The cupboard and the glass cabinet are the accessories of the Apollonia dining room. They can fit in every edge of the room and the carved details and friezes on both items are made by expert hands. The two items are classy, and their wide structure recalls the massiveness of this collection.

Tables

The tables of the Apollonia collection are three: all of them are unique, and immediately recognizable thanks to a timeless charm. While the two rectangular models are distinguished only by their size, the third table is round, it recalls the base leg of the rectangular versions and the decorations on the profile. All tables can be enriched by hand-painted decorations.

Chairs

Linear and not too carved, the chairs of the Apollonia set are characterized by a sober elegance. The backrest assumes, in the upper part, a more irregular shape enlarging the support space. With their 112 cm high, both chair and armchair ensure a good back support ensuring a certain sitting comfort.
